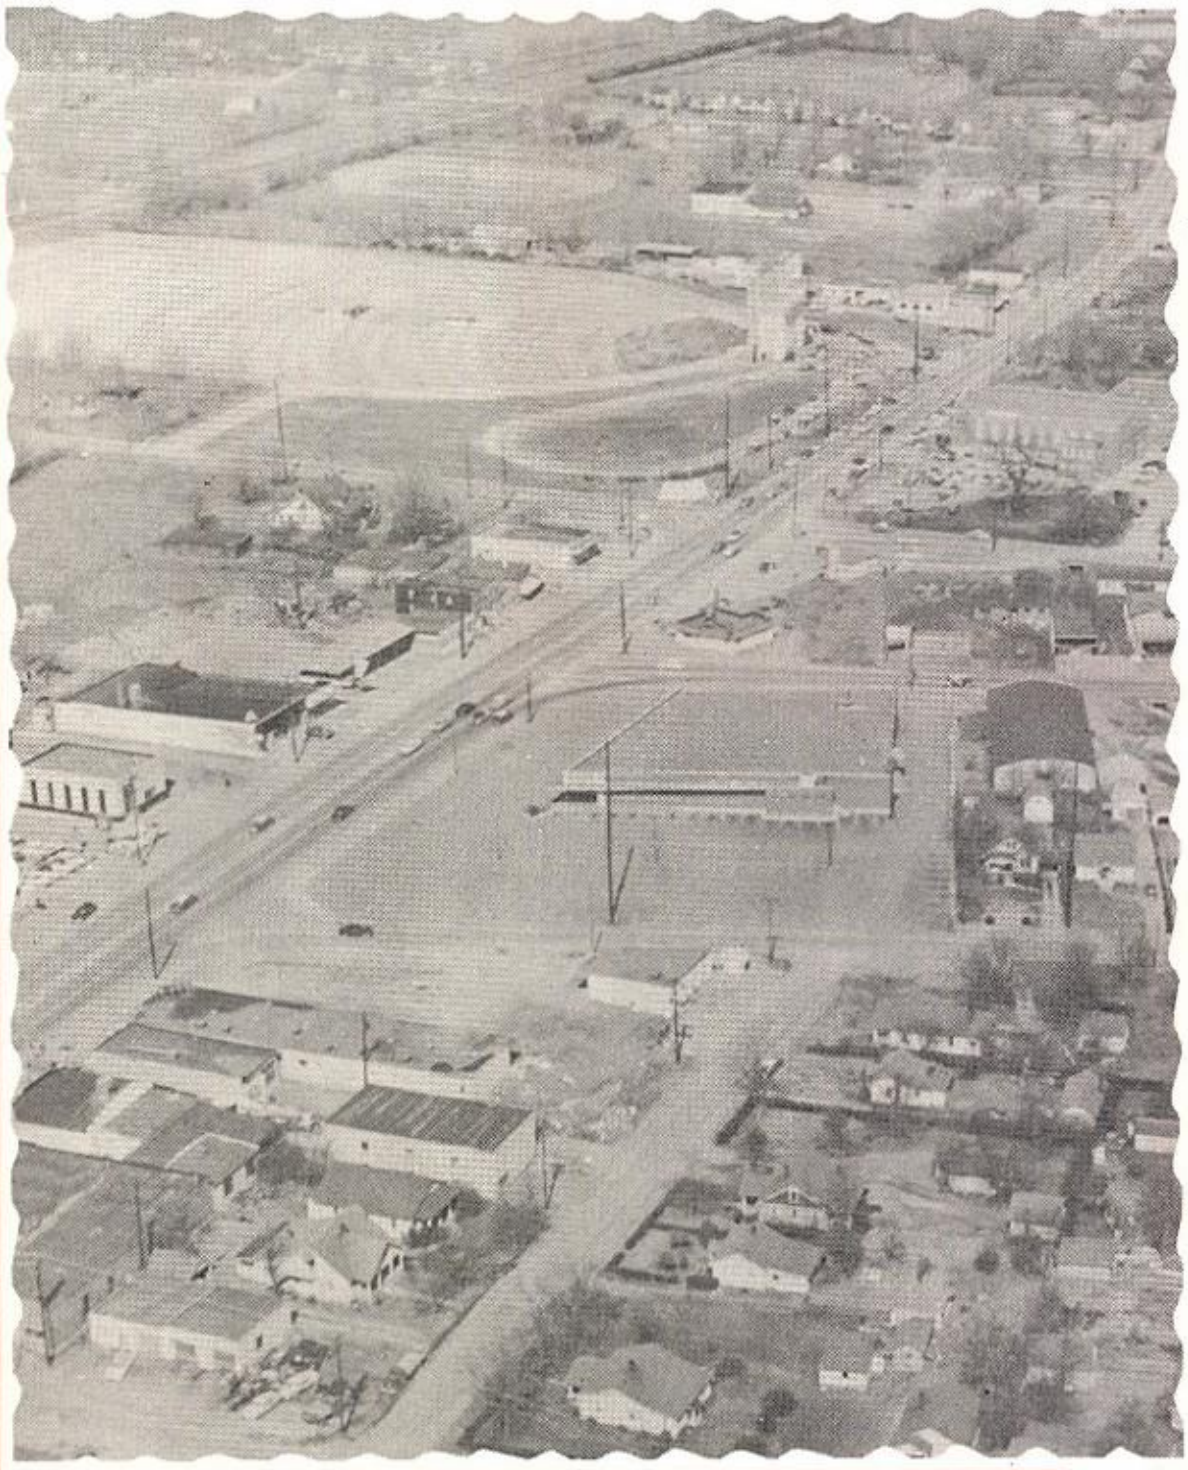
FOREWORD

We sincerely wish that the '57 RAM will take you "Under the Sea" into the depths of your memories and schools of thought, providing waves of recollections and pleasures to all voyages of the past year.

DEDICATION



In acknowledgment of the interest, cooperation, financial assistance and moral encouragement given our school from the time of its conception through its continued development, the "Ram" Staff of Madison High School dedicate this 1957 edition to the community of Madison. It is true that the strength of the school lies in the student body, but the sources of that strength are the parents and friends of the school.

SENIOR PROPHECY

June 1, 1967

Dear Students of Madison High:

In my recent journeys around the world, I met many of the alumni from the class of '57. I thought you might be interested in hearing where they are and what each person is doing.

As I had several hours before my ship sailed, I decided to go sight-seeing through New York. The first sight that greeted my eyes was a skyscraper higher than the Empire State Building being built by those famous construction engineers, Ronnie Chapman and Roy Brawner. Later, while I was wandering through the New York Zoo, I noticed that Tim Watrous, keeper of the zoo, was feeding the Laughing Hyena. Connie Guffee, head librarian at Carnegie Library, was at the zoo feeding the chimpanzee.

My taxicab driver, Norma Williams, took me by Rockefeller Center where I saw Dr. Willie Mae Draper, surgeon, and her nurse, Janie Montgomery, going inside. There was a small building next door that housed The George Callis School of Dancing and the Elwood Headley School of Acting.

Just then I realized that my boat was about to sail, so I hurried to the dock. As I went up the gang-plank, I met Pat DeKnoblough and her husband, also taking the trip abroad.

The name of my ship was the S. S. Continental. Jimmy Owen was the captain and Johns Hawkins was his first mate.

The trip across the ocean was wonderful, and I met Billy Petty, now famous for his hair styles; Joyce Swindle, top manicurist and inventor of the "Never-Comes-Off" nail polish; and Wallace Jett, a famous druggist, who were employed on the ship.

I read several books during the trip: "How to be Lazy and Get Away with It" by Jon Hines and "How to Avoid Working" by J. D. Vandercook. They were both very unusual books.

My first stop was England. There I met Russell Armour, an engineer building a super highway across the country. A movie starring Julia Boyce and Jimmy Frye, with Art Director Dennis Wright, was being made in London.

I found Lonnie Jemigan in France looking for antique cars to add to his collection. Also the great Franklin (Peewee) Pendleton has just won the Grand Prize in his souped-up Ferrari. I went to a fashion show while in France and found Pam Callaway and Barbara Gillingham the top fashion designers of the show. A secretarial convention was being held in Paris. Those attending were Martha Ashworth, Margie Houdeshell, Valerie Huffines, and Margie Smith.

In Switzerland I found Edward Thornhill and electrical technician Virga Noland, both employees of G. E., making experiments on the electrical aspects of an echo. Covering this event was reporter Aaron Johnson.

In Australia, the Olympics were being held. Donald Deering, Poochie Tomlin, Will T. Vance, and Gene Wallenbrock were on the U. S. Basketball team. Clarilyn Garner and Barbara Wilson were on the girls' team. In the shooting events I found Jack Williams taking all the honors.

In Mexico, Emma Potts was looking for unusual pots for her pottery shop in Pennsylvania.

Back in America my first stop was Hollywood. Since I had walked the soles off my shoes, I stopped at Beverly Forehand's shoe salon and bought a pair of her originals.

I rented a car from the Joe King U-Drive-It Co. to use for the rest of the trip. I first drove out to the Naval base in San Francisco and saw Admirals Ennis Coleman and Tivis Nelson. Next I drove to the Army testing grounds where General Jim Brodus was conducting the experiments on the new Supersonic Jet. At that moment Charles Goins and Bobby Litchford were up testing the jet.

The next morning, I headed for Nevada where a space ship was just about to take off. The pilots were cousins Danny and Gale Woods. Linda West was going along to establish the first outer space school. Other passengers on the trip were Nell Trammell and Wayne Sanders.

I went to see a football game between Contoocook, coached by Joe Cartwright, and the Los Angeles Rams, coached by Carl Bailey. The star of the game, Tony Carter, was taken out with a broken leg.

My next stop was Bryce Canyon Park, Utah, where I found Carolyn Christian, Youth director of the most famous resort in the world. Enjoying the wonderful climate and a rest were Carol Lee, a well-known hand model, and her agent, Jeannine Luck.

When I reached Salt Lake City, I found I had left my best suit back at Bryce Canyon, so I stopped in at "Rag's Clothing Store," owned and operated by Bobby Hurt. I might add that I got a beautiful second-hand suit.

I came across the noted gossip columnist, Suzanne Wells, and took her out to a new modern drive-in owned by Vivian Thurman.

On the way to Florida, I stopped in Yazoo, Mississippi, for gas at Gene Haston's gas station. In Miami, the Arthur Godfrey show was playing for two weeks. Several of your alumni were on the show: Faye and Robert Whitehead singing one of Sharon Graham's latest hits. Also singing on the show were Ann Pennington, Frances Jones, and Wanda Nixon. Musical director for the show was Jenell Ogg.

In Coral Gables, I turned in the rented car and bought a used car from the Wayne Johnson car lot. At the horse races, jockey Jimmy Anderson won the Hialeah handicap.

I might add that I stayed in the Hotel Poinsetta owned by James Clendening. Lying out beside the pool getting new ideas for his comic strip was Jimmy Johnson. Also enjoying the pool was secret service woman Rachel Roundtree.

While there, I had my suit cleaned by the "Done Right if Done by (Ben) Dunn Cleaners."

I headed home to Nashville but stopped first at Oak Ridge to see Julia Witt. She told me that she was doing secret atomic research work.

Nashville, at last! The first thing I did was to buy a paper. I read that while I had been gone Frances Knight had become editor-in-chief and that James Johnson is subscription editor of the Banner. I also read that several professors had been hired to teach at Vanderbilt: Professors Tommy Martin, Lloyd McCoin, Marilyn Biberdorf, and Yvonne Tidwell.

I turned to the sports page and saw that Barbara Collier, secretary for Gorgeous George, is visiting her home town on a vacation. Golf Pro, Chuck Eller is taking all honors at Belle Meade Country Club. Taking the headlines were Mrs. America and Father of the Year. Of course, Juaneese Glover is Mrs. America and Larry Stephenson is Father of the Year.

Quite a few of your alumni are still in or around Madison. Tommy Garrett is owner of Cunningham, Inc., Hill Appliances, the biggest department store in the south, is owned by Alan Hill. Edith Roberts is now managing Child's Toggery. Being Vice-President of the Sleep-Rite Mattress Co. makes Gary Loyd very happy. America's largest furniture company is lucky to have Alvin Scott as President and Linda Sanders as his secretary. Managing Harvey's, Cain Sloan, and Caster Knott is Ernest Taylor's job. And last, but not least are the ones who are just housewives: Betty Armour, Nancy Aydelott, Yvonne Yandle, Carol McClanahan, and Delores Thomason.

And now I'll close this letter so I can settle down and watch a new T. V. show starring that great comedian Carrol Ferguson.

Yours truly,

Rinky Ram

HIRED GUNMAN

I DON'T CARE

THAT'S THE CHANCE
I'VE GOT TO TAKE

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of 1957, being of sound and disposing mind, do hereby make our last Will & Testament, declaring all others nil and void.

After four turbulent years, we leave the school somewhat the worse for wear, but full of memories.

We leave the Juniors the task of keeping alive the school spirit we have held.

To the Sophomores we leave our boundless energy--they'll need it!

To the Freshmen we leave the task of growing into Seniors in just four years.

To the Seventh and Eighth grades we leave five and six years to get acquainted with Madison High.

I, Jimmy Anderson, leave my size to anyone with courage enough to take it.
I, Betty Armour, leave to find Larry, I hope.
I, Russell Armour, leave Trig. ---thank goodness!
I, Martha Ashworth, leave first period office duty to anyone wide awake enough to take it.
I, Nancy Aydlott, leave to get married and live in a trailer.
I, Carl Bailey, leave my athletic ability to John Noland.
I, Marilyn Biberdorf, leave my quietude to Emmaly Martin.
I, Julia Boyce, leave my flaming red hair to Beverly Sherman.
I, Roy Brawner, leave quietly, as I came.
I, Jim Broadus, leave my Wendell Wagon to anyone smart enough to take it.
I, Gerald Burgess, leave my speed to Earl Bullock.
I, Tony Carter, leave my pugilistic ability to anyone in love.
I, Pam Callaway, leave my ability to win contests to Joyce Moomaw.
I, Joe Cartwright, leave my contact lenses to whoever finds them.
I, George Callis, leave my job as Miss Wright's secretary to Don Gibson.
I, Ronnie Chapman, leave my membership in the Health Club to Paul Grammar.
I, Carolyn Christian, leave my coloring pencils to Janice Venable.
I, James Clendening, leave my phony excuse to Bobby Smith.
I, Ennis Coleman, leave with Beverly.
I, Barbara Collier, leave my blonde hair to Ellen Duchin.
I, Donald Deering, leave my black eyes to anyone who has nerve enough to get two more.
I, Patricia DeKnoblough, leave one husband richer.
I, Willie Mae Draper, leave my place in the chorus to Gayle Callis.
I, Ben Dunn, leave one wife richer-who wants more!
I, Charles Eller, leave my seat at Colonel's to Charles Tash.
I, Carrol Ferguson, leave my meanness to Margaret Hargis.
I, Beverly Forehand, leave with Ennis.
I, Jimmy Frye, leave the football field to Coach Brimm.
I, Tommy Garrett, leave my place in the student Council to Sparky Edgin.
I, Clarilyn Garner, leave the basketball team-finally.

Dear Ruby E.

I had enjoyed knowing you and having you as my best girl friend this year. Always remember our hard times in P.M. Dillinglam's room. He got the worst didn't he.

May you always have the best throughout your entire life for you deserve it more than anyone in the world.

I hope you will always remain the sweet and cute girl you are now. Keep your good disposition (you may need it)

May we always keep our crazy friendship alive.

Love always,
